Reply to IRS Notice CP207 · Form 941 · Quarter Ended June 30, 2026

Draft reply package for review. Prepared reply in the forms' boxes; not the official Schedule B or Form 843.

Employer	HANGS Construction Services LLC
EIN	91-7305518 (demonstration)
Address	2200 Harbor Works Drive, Anytown, WA 00000
Notice	CP207 dated October 26, 2026, received October 29, 2026
Reply due	December 10, 2026, 45 days from the notice date

Is the penalty right?

Proposed on the notice: averaged failure-to-deposit penalty	1,348.09
Correct penalty on the actual paydays (the May 21 bonus run, 8 days late at 5%)	634.10
Removed once the IRS has the Schedule B	713.99

The notice is right that HANGS is a semiweekly depositor and that line 16 was wrong. Its amount is not: it comes from spreading each month's tax over the first four Wednesdays. On the real paydays every regular deposit was on time; only the May 21 off-cycle bonus run was late.

The deposit schedule

Form 941 line 12, July 1, 2024 to June 30, 2025 (more than $50,000: semiweekly)	369,619.02
Schedule B total for Q2 2026, equal to line 12 and to the deposits	108,779.86

What the reply asks

1. Refigure the penalty from the enclosed Schedule B (record of federal tax liability by payday).
2. Remove the remaining $634.10 under the Automatic Exemption from Penalty: twelve clean quarters, Q2 2023 to Q1 2026.
3. Fallback only, if a person decides to send it: a reasonable-cause statement signed under penalty of perjury.
4. Form 843 is filled in but held: it is filed only if a penalty is assessed after the reply.

What's in this package

Cover letter · Schedule B in its boxes · deposit trail · penalty recomputed · relief request and statement · Form 843 (held) · client email · calendar

Re: Notice CP207 dated October 26, 2026 · Form 941 · tax period June 30, 2026

To whom it may concern:

We received your notice CP207 saying the record of federal tax liability for our Form 941 for the quarter ended June 30, 2026 was missing or incorrect. You are right: we are a semiweekly schedule depositor for 2026, and the return showed monthly liabilities on line 16 instead of a Schedule B. Our payroll provider's return setting still said monthly; we have asked the provider to correct it.

Enclosed is a completed Schedule B (Form 941) showing our tax liability on each of the eight dates wages were paid, $108,779.86 in all, the same as line 12. Please refigure the failure-to-deposit penalty from it instead of the averaged liabilities. A list of our EFTPS deposits is enclosed for your reference.

On the actual paydays, every regular payroll was deposited on or before its due date. One deposit was late: our May 21, 2026 off-cycle bonus payroll ($12,682.00) was due May 28 and deposited June 5. We understand the penalty on it is $634.10.

We ask that this remaining penalty be removed under the Automatic Exemption from Penalty. For the twelve quarters from Q2 2023 to Q1 2026 we filed every Form 941 on time, paid every balance and made every deposit by EFTPS; the only penalty in that period was abated for reasonable cause in 2024.

If you have any questions, please contact Celeste Whitford, President, at 206-555-0187.

Sincerely,

Celeste Whitford, President (unsigned draft)

The Penalty, Recomputed

The notice's averaged method, reproduced (IRM Exhibit 20.1.4-3)

April: 26,822.36 ÷ 4 on Apr 1, Apr 8, Apr 15, Apr 22	6,705.59 each
May: 53,844.70 ÷ 4 on May 6, May 13, May 20, May 27	13,461.18 each
June: 28,112.80 ÷ 4 on Jun 3, Jun 10, Jun 17, Jun 24	7,028.20 each

Apr 8	Apr 21	6	5%	82.34	4.12

Jun 17	Jun 30	6	5%	7,028.20	351.41
May 20	Jun 30	33	10%	90.96	9.10
Averaged penalty, recomputed: equal to the notice					1,348.09

The correct penalty, on the actual paydays

May 21 bonus run liability, due May 28, deposited Jun 5	12,682.00
8 calendar days late: 5% (26 U.S.C. 6656(b)(1))	634.10
Seven regular paydays, each deposited the day before it was due	0.00
Removed by the Schedule B	713.99

Why the averaged figure is higher: the averaged method puts a quarter of each month's tax on Wednesdays when no wages had been paid, so deposits made on time for the real Friday paydays look late against the averaged dates, and the one late deposit is spread across several shares.

Every return on time and paid; every deposit by EFTPS; one penalty, abated for reasonable cause. For 2026 quarterly returns the IRS applies the Automatic Exemption from Penalty instead of First Time Abate; a penalty abated for reasonable cause does not count against it. History qualifies on the client's records: yes (AEP-01).

Penalty for which relief is asked 634.10

Reasonable-cause statement (fallback; send only if RESIDUAL-01 decides so)

HANGS Construction Services LLC pays its employees every other Friday through an outside payroll provider, which makes the EFTPS deposit for each regular payroll. On Thursday, May 21, 2026 we paid an off-cycle production bonus. The run was not released for tax filing in the provider's portal, so no deposit was made. Our controller found the gap in the monthly reconciliation and deposited the full amount on June 5, 2026.

Every other deposit for the quarter, and for the twelve quarters before it, was made on time. Since then off-cycle runs are released for tax filing on the day they are paid, and the controller checks each EFTPS confirmation against the payroll.

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this statement and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, it is true, correct and complete.

To: Morgan Lee, Controller
Subject: Your IRS notice CP207: what it means and what we need from you

Hi Morgan,

Good news first: the IRS's $1,348.09 is not the right number. Because the Q2 return showed monthly totals instead of a Schedule B, the IRS spread each month's tax evenly over the month's Wednesdays and tested your deposits against those made-up dates. On your real paydays every regular deposit was on time.

The one real problem is the May 21 bonus run: it was due May 28 (Memorial Day gave you an extra day) and went in June 5, 8 days late. That costs $634.10. We are asking the IRS to waive it because your last twelve quarters are clean; under the IRS's new automatic relief for 2026 quarters that should qualify.

What we need from you: (1) Celeste signs a Form 2848 so we can talk to the IRS for you; (2) she signs the reply by November 20 so it is mailed well before December 10, 2026; (3) ask Northline Payroll Services to switch the Form 941 setting to semiweekly and to send a Schedule B for Q3, since the Q3 return has the same problem; (4) release off-cycle runs for tax filing the day they are paid.

You do not need to pay anything now. If the IRS still assesses a penalty after our reply, we will file Form 843 for you.

Thanks,

F1 Finance

WHAT STILL NEEDS A PERSON

RESIDUAL-01 · $634.10: The May 21 off-cycle bonus run, $12,682.00, was deposited June 5, 8 calendar days after its May 28 due date: $634.10 at 5% is owed on the actual paydays even after the Schedule B. The reply asks for the Automatic Exemption from Penalty on the clean twelve-quarter history. The reasonable-cause statement drafted as a fallback is weak: the run was not released for tax filing, an oversight, and the IRS says mistakes and reliance on others generally do not qualify. A person decides whether to send it; if sent, the President signs it under penalty of perjury.

AEP-01 · $634.10: For 2026 quarterly returns the IRS applies the Automatic Exemption from Penalty, not First Time Abate. On the client's records Q2 2023 to Q1 2026 qualify: all twelve returns on time and paid, all deposits by EFTPS, and the one penalty (Q1 2024, $388.42) abated for reasonable cause, which does not count. AEP is applied when the original return processes, and no AEP letter came for Q2; whether the IRS will apply it to the remaining penalty after the Schedule B, and how many FTD waivers its own records show (four or more disqualify), are for a person to confirm with the IRS once Form 2848 is on file.

Q3-01: The controller says Northline Payroll Services filed the Q3 2026 Form 941 on October 30 with the same monthly box on line 16 and no Schedule B. Expect a CP207 for Q3 as well. A person prepares the Q3 Schedule B from the Q3 payroll and sends it now, has the provider switch its Form 941 module to semiweekly before the Q4 return due February 1, 2027, and sets a control so off-cycle runs are released for tax filing on the day they are paid.

POA-01: No Form 2848 or Form 8821 is on file for F1 Finance. Until Celeste Whitford signs a Form 2848 for Form 941, 2026 periods, F1 Finance cannot discuss the account with the IRS or file Form 843 for HANGS; the reply itself is signed and mailed by HANGS.

REPLY-01: Unsigned draft. The reply to notice CP207 dated October 26, 2026 is due Thursday, December 10, 2026, at the address on the paper notice, by certified mail. Form 843 is filled in but held: it is filed only if a penalty is assessed after the reply. Nothing has been signed, mailed or paid.

This PDF is an unsigned draft reply. It is not the official Schedule B or Form 843, and nothing has been signed or mailed.

TAX RULE CHECKS

Official sources checked during this run. These checks inform a reviewer, change no amount and settle no judgment.

What does notice CP207 ask for, and by when?

Verified Online · Understanding your CP207 notice · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/individuals/understanding-your-cp207-notice

The notice is dated October 26, 2026, so the reply is due December 10, 2026. The draft Schedule B lists the liability of each of the eight Q2 paydays, $108,779.86 in all, the same as line 12.

What happens without a reply, and where does a reasonable-cause statement go?

Verified Online · Understanding your CP207 notice · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/individuals/understanding-your-cp207-notice

The reply carries the Schedule B first. The statement for the May 21 bonus deposit is drafted for the President's signature under penalty of perjury and is sent only if a person decides to ask for reasonable cause.

Was HANGS a monthly or a semiweekly schedule depositor in 2026?

Verified Online · Publication 15 (2026), (Circular E), Employer's Tax Guide · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/publications/p15

Line 12 for Q3 2024 to Q2 2025 totals $369,619.02, far over $50,000: HANGS was a semiweekly depositor for all of 2026. The notice is right about the schedule; line 16 on the return was wrong.

Which lookback period applies for 2026, and what must a semiweekly depositor file with Form 941?

Verified Online · Instructions for Form 941 (03/2026) · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/instructions/i941

The Q2 return checked the monthly box and attached no Schedule B; the provider's return module still says monthly (Q3-01).

When was each Q2 deposit due?

Verified Online · Publication 15 (2026), (Circular E), Employer's Tax Guide · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/publications/p15

Every Q2 payday was a Friday except the Thursday, May 21 bonus run. The Fridays were due the following Wednesday; May 21 was due Thursday, May 28, a day later because of Memorial Day.

Why did the IRS propose an averaged penalty?

Verified Online · Publication 15 (2026), (Circular E), Employer's Tax Guide · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/publications/p15

Line 12 was $108,779.86 and the return showed only monthly totals, so the averaged penalty applied: the notice proposes $1,348.09.

How exactly does the IRS average a semiweekly depositor's monthly liabilities?

Verified Online · IRM 20.1.4, Failure to Deposit Penalty · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/irm/part20/irm_20-001-004r

Splitting April, May and June into quarters on the first four Wednesdays and applying the deposits as made gives $1,348.09, the notice's figure to the cent. On the actual paydays the penalty is $634.10.

What goes on the Schedule B sent with the reply?

Verified Online · Instructions for Schedule B (Form 941) · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/instructions/i941sb

Eight liabilities on eight paydays (April 3 and 17; May 1, 15, 21 and 29; June 12 and 26), $108,779.86, equal to line 12 and to the deposits.

What does the law charge for a late deposit, and what excuses it?

Verified Online · 26 U.S. Code 6656, Failure to make deposit of taxes · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/26/6656

The May 21 bonus deposit, $12,682.00, was made June 5, 8 days after its May 28 due date: 5%, $634.10. Applying deposits to the most recent liability keeps the late deposit from spilling onto later paydays.

Are days late counted in business days or calendar days?

Verified Online · Failure to Deposit Penalty · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/payments/failure-to-deposit-penalty

May 28 to June 5 is 8 calendar days (6 business days), so 5%, not 2% and not 7%.

Is First Time Abate available for a Q2 2026 deposit penalty, and does HANGS's history qualify?

Verified Online · Administrative penalty relief (First Time Abate and Automatic Exemption from Penalty) · retrieved 2026-11-07 · needs-human-judgment

https://www.irs.gov/payments/administrative-penalty-relief

Q2 2023 to Q1 2026: all twelve Forms 941 on time, all paid, all deposits by EFTPS. The only penalty, Q1 2024's $388.42, was abated for reasonable cause, which the page says does not count. On the client's records the history qualifies, so the reply asks that any penalty left after the Schedule B be removed under AEP.

Stays with a person: AEP is applied when the original return completes processing; no AEP letter came for Q2, and the CP207's averaged penalty is only proposed. Whether the IRS will apply AEP to the remaining $634.10 after the Schedule B, and the count of FTD waivers in the IRS's own records, are AEP-01.

What are the IRS's First Time Abate criteria for a deposit penalty, and which comes first, the waiver or reasonable cause?

Verified Online · IRM 20.1.1, Introduction and Penalty Relief · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/irm/part20/irm_20-001-001r

So the order of the reply is: correct the averaged penalty with the Schedule B (HANGS complied on every regular payday), ask for administrative relief on the one late deposit, and keep reasonable cause as the fallback. The Q1 2024 abatement was for reasonable cause, not FTA, so it does not count.

Would the May 21 deposit qualify for reasonable cause if administrative relief is refused?

Verified Online · Penalty relief for reasonable cause · retrieved 2026-11-07 · needs-human-judgment

https://www.irs.gov/payments/penalty-relief-for-reasonable-cause

The facts for HANGS: twelve clean quarters, every regular deposit on time, the missed run caught by the controller's own reconciliation and deposited in full 8 days late. That is a fair statement but not a strong reasonable-cause case; it is the fallback only.

Stays with a person: Whether to send the reasonable-cause statement, and the President's signature under penalty of perjury, are RESIDUAL-01.

Is Form 843 needed now?

Verified Online · Instructions for Form 843 (12/2024) · retrieved 2026-11-07 · determined-by-facts

https://www.irs.gov/instructions/i843

Held, not sent: nothing is assessed yet. The draft is filled in for $634.10 under section 6656 for the quarter ended June 30, 2026, to be signed by the President if the IRS assesses the penalty after the reply.
